

TRANSEND AND INTERCASH TO SUPPLY A PREPAID MASTERCARD FOR ONLINE GAMING

24 February 2008

It has been reported that a prepaid MasterCard suitable for people to use online gaming sites is to be available soon in Europe. The card will function as any MasterCard branded card and can be used at ATM's worldwide, for point of sale payments or to make online payments.

It will have huge benefits for gaming operators and their customers alike, as it will reduce the costs of transfers and cheque fees. The customer's winnings can be transferred back to the card instantly.

Patrick Seguev CEO at Intercash, said that they were happy to be working with TransSend in providing '... a pioneering and market-leading' card that can be used for the online gaming industry.

CEO of TransSend, Richard Jones commented that he was aware of the need for a renowned and reliable payment method of this type and is delighted that they have been given the approval to use the MasterCard brand.
